Introduction

The Archives and Records Management Division of the State Archives has prepared these general retention and disposition schedules to give South Carolina's counties the legal authorization to retain and dispose of records common to eighteen offices and functions. The schedules list permanently valuable records, which should be properly protected for future use, and they also supply a timetable that will allow records custodians to regularly and legally dispose of records of non-permanent value. In preparing the schedules, the Division consulted with various local and state government officials.

Purpose

The schedules are designed to:

- give county governments uniform guidelines for the retention and disposition of common records;
- make sure counties retain for as long as necessary the records they will need for administrative, legal, fiscal, and other uses;
- make sure counties retain records for as long as state and federal laws, regulations, policies, and procedures require;
- promote the cost-effective management of records;
- give counties the legal authorization they need to dispose regularly of their obsolete records.

Statutory authority

Section 30-1-90(B) of the Code of Laws of South Carolina, 1976, as amended, authorizes the State Archives to promulgate as state regulations, general schedules for records common to local governments. On 26 June 1992, the General Assembly approved the county general schedules as Regulation 12-500 through 12-512.2. On 26 April 2002, the General Assembly approved additions/revisions to the county general schedules as Regulation 12-500 through 12-518.3

Definitions of schedules

A records retention schedule describes one or several records series, shows the length of time the records should be retained, and indicates their final disposition. Schedules are of two types – specific and general.

Specific Records Retention Schedules – these schedules are prepared and approved specifically for your county; your county's name will appear on these.

General Records Retention Schedules – these schedules are state regulations issued by the State Archives and are published in the Code of Laws of South Carolina 1976, as amended. When a general schedule applies to records already covered under a specific schedule, the general schedule will supersede the specific schedule unless you wish to opt out of using the general schedule.

Special provisions

Opting out – You may already have approved specific schedules that cover some of the same records as the general schedules. If you prefer to continue using these specific schedules, the regulations allow you to opt out of using the general schedules. The regulations will also let you opt out of using general schedules if you wish to establish new specific schedules instead.

Unique records – These general schedules do not list records that are unique to your county. To control the retention and disposition of these, you should refer to your specific schedules. If you have no specific schedules, contact your records officer. If you do not know who your records officer is, contact our Local Records Services Unit at 803-896-6122.

Confidential and restricted records – County records officers and records custodians should ensure that confidential records are filed, accessed, and disposed of according to federal, state, and local legal requirements.

Exceptions to minimum retention periods – These general schedules establish minimum retention periods for the official copy of your county's records. Although most records can be destroyed when their minimum retentions have been met, you may need to keep some records longer to satisfy specific requirements. Be sure those requirements have been met before you dispose of those records.

Copies – These general schedules do not cover copies of records, which you may have made for convenience, information, or duplication. You may destroy copies when you no longer need them.

To whom do these schedules apply?

The following county government offices and functions: register of deeds, sheriff/detention, county council/administration, finance, purchasing, personnel, auditor, treasurer, tax collector, tax assessor, building/planning and development, veterans affairs, maintenance garage/fleet maintenance, library, emergency services, animal control, voter registration and elections, and coroner.

To whom do these schedules not apply?

- Municipalities, townships, school districts, special purpose districts, and any quasi-governmental subdivisions. The State Archives has developed separate general schedules for municipalities and school districts.
- Circuit courts of common pleas and general sessions, family courts, magistrate courts and probate courts. Separate general schedules for court records have been issued through South Carolina Court Administration.

General schedule format

Format for County Council Minutes

Subarticle 3. County Council/Administration

12-503.2 County Council Minutes

A. Description: Record of the proceedings at meetings of the county council, which includes written descriptions of the financial and administrative business conducted. Information includes date of meeting, names of councilmen present, claim approvals, petitions, bids, proposals, and other matters discussed by or brought to the attention of the council.

B. Retention: Permanent. Microfilm for security.

Each record series listed in the general schedule is presented in the following format:

Subarticle number – This publication contains schedules for eighteen offices/functions, each with a separate subarticle number.

Regulation number and series title – The first line includes the regulation number, which is used for control, and the title most commonly used by counties.

Part A – Description: A short statement describing the use and informational content of the record series. It helps to identify the record.

Part B – Retention: The time period indicating the minimum length of time that records should be retained by the office before their disposition can take place. Some records are scheduled for permanent retention because of their value; others have retention periods that vary from "until no longer needed for reference" to seventy-five years.

Explanation of micrographics terms used in retention schedules

"Microfilm Optional" – Microfilm may be substituted for the original records IF the microfilm meets state standards (see R-12-200 of the Code of Laws of South Carolina, 1976, as amended). Before you destroy the originals, you must submit to the State Archives and have approved a Microfilm Quality Certification for Records Disposition form.

"Permanent. Microfilm for security" – You cannot destroy the original records after microfilming.

"Permanent. Microfilm" – You must microfilm records of permanent value that are on non-permanent media like computer tape and computer printouts to preserve the information they hold. And you must submit a Microfilm Quality Certification for Records Disposition form to the State Archives for approval before you destroy the non-permanent media those records are on.

Using this schedule effectively

- Your county records officer should coordinate all activities relating to the retention and disposition of your records and function as a liaison with the State Archives in administering the county's records management program. If you have no county records officer, each records custodian has these responsibilities.
- County records officers should work with other county staff to coordinate the regular disposition of obsolete records. Disposition should be carried out periodically—at least once a year. To streamline disposition, your staff should review filing arrangements, cut off files periodically, and develop procedures to segregate inactive and obsolete files.
- Generally, non-archival records should be destroyed when the minimum retention periods have been met, unless they are needed to meet specific requirements (see Section 12-500). Although you are not required to destroy records at the end of their minimum retention periods, obsolete records should not occupy expensive office and storage space.
- The titles and descriptions of record series listed in the general schedule may not reflect exactly the titles and descriptions you use. If you are not certain whether the schedule applies to a specific record in your office, please contact the Local Records Services Unit at 803-896-6122.

How to use the general schedules

1. Study the general schedules and compare them with your specific schedules, if you have any, to determine which schedules you will use.
2. Locate and examine all your records.
3. Match each records series with the title and description on the general schedule.
4. Follow the records disposition process outlined below. The process is illustrated by the flow chart on page 8.

Records disposition process

Permanent (archival) records:

Paper Records – After your permanently-valuable paper records become inactive, you should transfer them to an archival repository. Contact the Local Records Services Unit for advice on caring for and protecting your archival records.

Micrographics – If you microfilm permanent records, contact the Micrographics Services Branch at 803-896-6208 for help and information about microfilm standards.

Digital Images – If you are maintaining permanent records as digital images, special requirements apply. Contact the Local Records Services Unit at 803-896-6122 for more information.

Non-permanent records:

To destroy records according to general schedules, you must complete and forward to the Local Records Services Unit a "Report on Records Destroyed" form. A sample form is included on page 5 and blank forms are available from the Local Records Services Unit. Follow the step-by-step instructions on the back of the form. Please note that both the form and the process are the same as those you use to document records disposal under your specific schedules. To help you estimate cubic footage for column 9 on the form, we have included a table of volumes on page 7.

General Retention Schedule for County Records

12-500. Introduction and general matters; application of schedule.

The following general schedules contain minimum records retention periods for the official copy of the records. These retentions and dispositions apply regardless of physical format, i.e., paper, microfilm, electronic storage, digital imaging, etc. Convenience, informational or duplicate copies are not governed by this regulation and may be destroyed when no longer needed for reference. To destroy records in accordance with this regulation, county governments must complete and submit a report of records destroyed form to the Department of Archives and History after eligible records have been destroyed. These forms are available from the Department's Division of Archives and Records Management. Before disposing of public records under these general schedules, county governments should insure that the records have no further audit, legal, or fiscal value. These general schedules supersede all schedules approved previously for the same records series. However, county governments may opt out of these general schedules and request the continuing use of existing schedules or the establishment of specific retention schedules for their records when appropriate, necessary, or in order to avoid conflict with other laws or regulations.
